IN MARCH 2007, the Center for Traditionalist Orthodox Studies was pleased and honored to add to its Board of Directors and Advisors two distinguished individuals: Dr. Deborah Sirko-Osadsa and Dr. George T. Kosar.

Dr. Sirko-Osadsa is Director of the Molecular Diagnostics Laboratory at Genzyme Genetics, in Westborough, Massachusetts, and also teaches on the faculty of the Clinical Genetics Training Program at the Harvard Medical School and the Medical Genetics Residency Program at the Division of Human Genetics of the University of Connecticut Health Center. She is a Diplomate of the American Board of Medical Genetics and a Fellow of the American College of Medical Genetics.

Dr. George T. Kosar is Associate Director of Corporate and Foundation Relations at Tufts University and an Associate of the Davis Center for Russian and Eurasian Studies at Harvard University.

Both of these new advisors are members of our Exarchate parish of St. John Chrysostomos in Saugus (Boston), Massachusetts. We are honored by their affiliation with the C.T.O.S.
